City raises hinted

Police chief resigns force; Bay to push consolidation

BY JAKE JACOB

A resignation submitted by Bay St. Louis Police Chief William P. Carbonette, and accepted by city commissioners Tuesday, led to declarations by the city concerning both the upgrading of its force, and its intent to lead investigations into the feasibility of uniting the Bay, City of Waveland, and Hancock County law enforcement agencies into a single unit - as well as providing hints of raises to all city employees should increased property assessments provide the necessary funds.

Carbonette cited insufficient salary as principal cause of his resignation, saying he had only received one raise of $10 per month in four and one half years. This raise provided an income of $660 monthly, a sum he claimed was proving insufficient to meet his financial obligations.

In preference to taking a part-time job, permitting creation of supplemental income, Carbonette said he was submitting the resignation.

Contacted later in the day, the chief confirmed his move is effective Aug. 31, and added that he has accepted a position "in another city" at much higher pay.

Faced with selecting a new chief, Mayor Warren Carver said he was contacting the civil service in Jackson to see if they would make their qualification test available to the city, along with an expression as to whether or not they would evaluate results.

"This is a good starting point to upgrade our city police force, and in the future all policemen will take a test," Carver said.

In accord with suggestions of Commissioners Lucien Kidd and Clarence Ladner, Carver said he would contact the Mississippi Coast Crime Commission, the Highway Patrol, and the state law enforcement association to ascertain if more suitable tests were available from these sources.

Too, commissioners said they had time to advertise the open position, and invite resumes.

Starting salary for the new police chief elicited comment when it was suggested a higher figure than that being paid Carbonette might be considered should the applicant's qualifications warrant. Further, the commissioners allowed, the money would have to be available from taxes realized by increased assessment rolls.

"Our new assessment may justify an increase to all city employees," the commission agreed.

Questioned concerning the feasibility of promotion from within the ranks, Carver said that at least two people in the force would probably "score high" on the test.

The council indicated they would make the same test available to all suitable applicants, particularly those qualified and already in the department.

Council said it is working towards putting all city personnel under civil service, permitting a degree of job security, promulgated wage scales, advancements, and a means by which "...employer and employee could know what to expect of each other."

The "Bay St. Louis Civil Service," is to be administered by a three or five person board, serving in a voluntary capacity," they explained.

"We have almost completed our job description, classification, and the personnel policy," Commissioner Ladner said. He said that once these were accepted by council, the actual civil service formation could be undertaken.

The decision to lead county law enforcement amalgamation efforts, and Bay force upgrading, was taken following Carver's statement that a recent report crossing his desk had indicated the population of the three Coast counties would exceed 386,000 people during the decade between 1980 and 1990.

"We are growing at a tremendous rate," he said, adding, "we are just going to have to have a better grade of police officer."

Ladner agreed with Carver saying, "I think the time is coming when every area will have to have a 'metropolitan' type police force."

Asked if he would favor the previously discussed enjoyment of county law enforcement agencies under one roof, Ladner indicated that since such a measure would probably lead to a better spent tax dollar, he would personally lead such a campaign. He called on his commission colleagues to join with him in calling a meeting of county and municipal officials to discuss the feasibility of such an action.

Commissioner Kidd agreed, but Carver, nominal head of the Bay police squad, objected to the move stating such a meeting would not produce results, but rather result in argument with nothing settled.

He suggested "a study" be undertaken prior to such a meeting although he was unable to supply either a time frame or possible study agency.

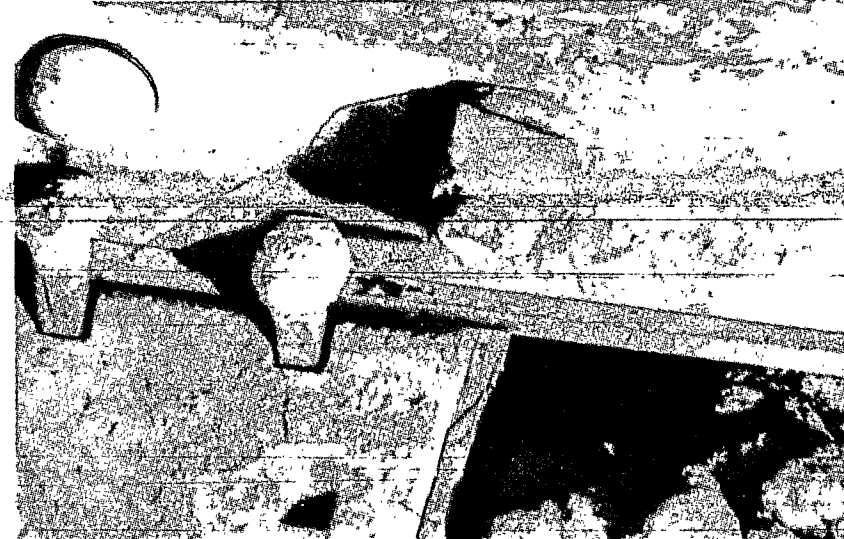

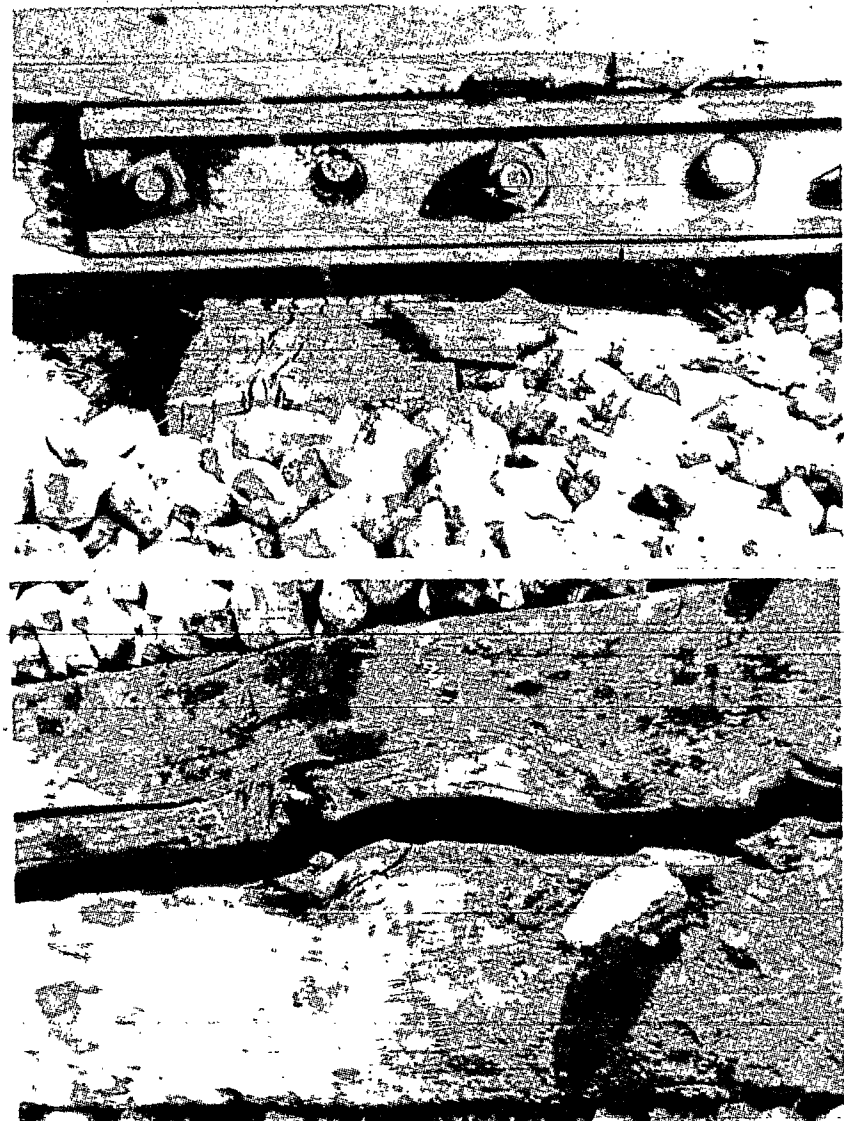

Again doubting the success of such a session, Mayor Carver said he is also in favor of saving the taxpayer's dollars, but doubted the required cooperation could be achieved without first sounding out the people concerned and laying adequate groundwork.

He said he thought consolidation of tax collecting would be one of the easiest things to achieve, but that he had met with no success at all.

Ladner and Kidd however, pressed their argument, saying the session was exactly for the purpose of laying ground rules and expressing opinions.

"If we add up the budget to be spent on maintaining three police departments in this county, we can see enough money to operate one, good law enforcement agency," Kidd said.

L&N crossing

Since the incident of the recent railroad wreck, calls have been received in the Sea Coast Echo office concerning the state of the track throughout the county. One place we were recommended to photograph was immediately to the west of the crossing at Waveland and Central Avenues, an area giving the city cause for grave concern, according to Mayor John Longo Jr. All shot Monday in the first hundred or less feet from the crossing, three pictures depict, from top, missing shoes and bolts; hollow, cracked ties with track ballast visible inside throughout length, apparent movement marks etched into rail by seemingly insecure track. When a train came by, the unit rocked and swayed over the line before crossing and many cars bounced as they headed east.

Hancock deputies fall victim to austere budget cut backs

By JAKE JACOB

Already the source of some criticism, law enforcement within county confines may be further curtailed as the result of budget cuts afforded the sheriff's department Monday, by the Hancock County Board of Supervisors.

The Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission, cut $38,000 in county ad valorem income, also faces a cut-back in operations, as does the library system which sustained a budget loss of $7,000.

County tax collector and assessor George Heitzmann's office may likewise have to implement a reduction in strength, due to a loss of some $16,726 from his requested budget.

Prior to announcing the supervisor's decision on county agency 1976-77 budget allocations, Alton Kellar, board president, said it was time he and his associates, "... must call a halt to the continued upward spiraling of budget estimates."

Hancock Sheriff Sylvan Ladner indicated following the meeting that several of his deputies would be out looking for jobs by the end of this year.

"I have a total of 35 people in my department, including myself," Ladner said, continuing "eight of these are deputies, four are radiomen, one is a secretary, and I have one jailer."

"To make ends meet I will have to drop at least three deputies off my payroll, in spite of the last grand jury recommending I be permitted to hire an additional two men."

Ladner said the department is responsible for 484 square miles of territory, with a population estimated at 25,000 persons.

Perturbed at the length of time elapsed before he was notified of the budget cut, Ladner, who submitted his budget at the beginning of July, said "None of them (the supervisors) called me aside, or in for a meeting to ask that some re-work be done on the figures. They just waited until I was not present and slashed my requests."

The sheriff said he had been present at Monday's session earlier, but was away on urgent business when the budget cut was announced.

"We have never had more than five cars to patrol our area and answer calls, and now I'll have to trim this to about two operational units."

Ladner said that between the fines imposed by beat justices as a result of the Highway Patrol's activities, plus those turned in by his department, the county treasury had benefitted to the tune of some $300,000 over the last year.

"All this money went into the general fund to help this county," Ladner said.

"If it were not for the eight volunteers now working with the department, we would be in far worse shape than we are now," he said, continuing "these people provide their own uniforms and equipment and ride one day a week without pay."

"We have seven highways through the county, all bringing additional people through here, and all of which add to our problems. 'Hancock County is sitting in the center of an area between Pascagoula and New Orleans, a situation that compounds our problems,'" Ladner said.

Ladner questioned the value of a new Youth Court if he didn't have anyone to serve the papers involved, nor have deputies to handle the increased prisoner load.

The sheriff also produced a thick process file awaiting action stating that all of the papers had to be served by a department, already creaking under its work load.

"How can we possibly locate all these people, many of whom are identified only by post office box number, attend to the wants of our area of responsibility and handle our court loads with a cut in deputies?" Ladner asked.

He said the grand juries have always found it hard to believe he operates with just two men per shift, a figure now facing further reduction.

"Even the janitors have to be deputized to let the prisoners be utilized in cleaning the courthouse, another of my responsibilities," the law chief said.

soil conservation, $9,000; Pearl River Junior College, maintenance, $95,000; PRJC Vo-Tech construction note retirement, $38,000; county fair, $9,500.

New to the budget this year, and seeking its first payment, Mobile Medico, $38,000. Youth court fees were set at $2 per criminal case.

Eying their deadline of Sept. 15, at which time they must set the millage for 1976-77, supervisors have still to establish road and bridge budgets, and that for the county general fund.

Taxpayers in the area encompassed by the Kiln Water and Fire Protection District will pay an additional two mills to support that operation.

The supervisors also instructed their clerk, John Rutherford Jr., to notify each involved agency of the dollars they can expect to receive in the next fiscal year.

Board President Alton Kellar also led discussion concerning going on record prior to the state legislator's next session, calling for a reversion to the commission or fee system to finance both the sheriff and tax collector's departments.

Kellar said that small counties cannot live with the present system.

"The counties just cannot survive and we have to come up with the dollars," he said.

The supervisors said that when the fee system was in effect there was better law enforcement. They said the constables are now on a $300 per month salary but that they also collected fees for services.

Wilson Webre, director, Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission, said he too was disappointed over the budget reduction.

"We may have to curtail intended security outlay at Port Bienville, as well as construction of a security building," the director said.

He continued, "We have a $7 million investment out there (Port Bienville) and we have to maintain a record of who comes and goes during working hours."

Webre said the port administration had come under criticism for its lax security measures following recent off loading of nine tons of marijuana at Port Bienville.

"People soon forget," he added.

Webre said his commission had allocated some $36,000 towards operation of Stennis International Airport, a county facet he considered more vital than some other budget approved items.

Tax Assessor Heitzmann said he had no immediate comment on cuts affecting his operation but it is expected he will present an appeal at the next supervisor's session scheduled for 10 a.m. Monday.

Library coordinator Prima Wumack said her main areas of expense curtailment would have to be in the field of "new hires" backed by a strict observance of minimum utility usage.

Pupil eligibility, entry policy gets trustee nod

Pupils entering the county school system for the first time must be in possession of a birth certificate, immunization records, and physical examination evidence, according to a pupil admission requirement policy statement adopted Wednesday by trustees.

Students transferring from another system will be assigned the grade indicated by the records of the school from which he or she is transferring. A re-assignment to an alternate grade will be made following an evaluation of student performance should such prove necessary.

The policy states that any child living with his parents who are bona fide residents of the Hancock County School District will be entitled to attend the county schools.

Students living outside the district, the policy says, may attend classes in the system with school board approval.

A tuition payment of $175 is payable for the privilege.

Forestry Commission accepting cost-sharing funds applications

Landowners may now sign up for cost-sharing funds for forestry work during the 1976-77 season. Two programs are available for landowners to receive cost-sharing - one is under the Federal Incentives Program (FIP), which is administered by the federal government, and the other is the Forest Resource Development Program (FRDP), which is administered by the state.

Either program will pay 75 percent of forestry practice costs not to exceed the following allotment limits: $30 per acre for tree planting, $40 per acre for heavy site preparation work, $3.75 per acre for light site preparation work, $25 per acre for release work, and $2.25 per 100 linear feet for firebreaks. Now in their third year, the incentives programs are designed to encourage forestry practices aimed at increasing timber production on under-productive lands.

Persons interested in signing up under the FRDP program are asked to contact County Forester Mike Williams at 467-5456 or 255-7152. "Mississippians are very fortunate to have two programs to help landowners with forestry practices. It is to the advantage of every landowner to take an interest in the role his land is playing in helping America re-establish and conserve her natural resources," Williams said.

Seniors to receive day care aid

Forty-five elderly persons in Hancock County will receive day care services through a purchase of service contract totaling $83,797 between Southern Mississippi Planning and Development District, Inc., sponsor of the Hancock County Day Care Program for the Elderly, and the State Department of Public Welfare, F.W. St. Clair, welfare commissioner, said this week.

The Title XX Day Care Program for the Elderly is located in the Valena C. Jones Center. Matching 25 percent local monies are provided by donated funds administered through the United Way of Hancock County.

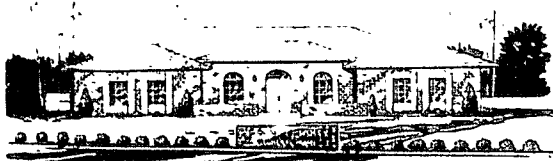

St. Clair said some of the program's goals include provision of services for every Mississippiian who cannot provide for himself and provision of employment for more people in Mississippi. Funded for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1976 and ending June 30, 1977, seven persons will be employed during this period, St. Clair added.

Social Security Notes

Having proper papers can assure speedy claim file

Knowing what to bring with you when you apply for social security or supplemental security payments can be a big help in getting faster action on your claim.

The person who walks into a social security office with all the necessary proofs to apply for payments not only saves time but is spared the inconvenience of making one or more return trips with additional papers.

What kinds of proofs are needed? The answer, of course, depends on the type of benefit you are applying for. For almost all types, you need your social security card or a record of your number. If you are applying for retirement benefits, you will also need proof of your age, your W-2 form for last year, or if you are self-employed, a copy of your latest Federal tax return. You'll need your children's birth certificates if you are applying for benefits for them.

If your wife is applying for benefits, she will need proof of her age. If she has a social security number, she should bring her card or a record of her number.

Proof of age continues to be the eligibility factor that causes problems for many people. Some people who think they are 65 discover that it may not be all that easy to prove. Too often a person's age on his or her current record - license or an inurance policy - may not agree with the social security record when the original social security card was issued.

Social security's policy is to go with the birth certificate or a baptismal certificate made at birth or within five years of birth as evidence. If necessary, however, old school records, census records, insurance policies, and other records can be used together to arrive at a person's correct age.

People planning to retire within the next year or so should begin gathering these proofs right now. On the other hand, don't delay an application just because you don't have all the proofs. The social security office can help to establish a particularly difficult eligibility factor.

A call to the office to find out what you should bring with you is the first step you should take in applying for social security or supplemental security income benefits.

If you are applying for disability or survivors insurance, the specific proofs you will need will depend on whether you are applying as a worker or a dependent. A worker applying for disability should have, in addition to most of the same proofs needed for retirement benefits, the names and addresses of the doctors and facilities which provided medical treatment. Dependents may need to prove relationship to the worker through a marriage certificate or birth certificate.

For survivors benefits, proof of the death of the worker is required.

If you are 65 or over and are applying for supplemental security income payments, you'll need evidence showing things you own and recent earnings or income. These may include a checkbook, savings account books, stocks and bonds, life insurance policies, auto registration cards, latest real estate tax statement, and last year's income tax return and W-2 forms.

If you're applying for SSI payments because of disability or blindness, you will also need the names and addresses of doctors, hospitals, or clinics that treated you for your disability.

INSUR-MATION

— 255-1133 KILN
FARM BUREAU INSURANCE - HWY. 603 JAMES A. RESTER

Is it possible for an insurance policy to pay its own premiums?
Yes. There are two methods. One: automatic policy loans, and two: extended term insurance. The use of the first method will keep the policy in force. The death benefit would be the face of the policy minus the total amount of the loan. The loan can always be repaid by restoring the policy to its original status. With extended term insurance you are insured for the entire face amount for a period, usually several years. But to restore the policy to its original condition you must not only pay the sum required but prove you are still insurable. Because of the risk of possibly becoming uninsurable, the automatic premium loan is usually the better method.

For immigrants, America's bounty could be depended upon to provide security. Since 1820, more than 45 million people have immigrated here in search of a new life.

We eye law enforcement as first county consolidation step

Section 17-13-7 of the Mississippi Code of 1972 was amended during the last regular session of the state legislature by the terms of Senate Bill 2542.

Under this bill, approved on May 5, and effective July 1, local government units may include ad valorem tax assessment and collection in areas they may wish to "... jointly exercise power and responsibility."

Cited by the bill as examples of such "... power, authority, or responsibility exercised or capable of being exercised by a local government unit of this state ..." and carried out jointly with any other local governmental unit of this state, any state board, agency or commission, are such things as police protection, fire protection, water and sewerage systems, garbage collection, road maintenance, planning, engineering, buildings, public facilities, industrial parks, and ad valorem tax assessment and collection.

This week Commissioner Clarence

Ladner of Bay St. Louis came off the lip service band wagon and threw his hat into the arena of public service consolidation. His colleague on the council, Commissioner Lucien Kidd, quickly seconded Ladner's proposal, and he in turn was joined by a strongly protesting but thoughtful politician, Mayor Warren Carver.

Ladner's inroad into a joint public service venture is confined to the city's calling a meeting of county and municipal officials in an attempt to determine whether common needs will permit amalgamation of police law enforcement activities throughout the county.

The action, Ladner believes, will result in considerable benefit to the taxpayers of all three geopolitical areas, benefits in the form of increased efficiency, the elimination of costly duplication - as presently exists in the maintenance of three communication centers, offices, and administrative necessities, and a far better utilization of personnel.

Too, such action will permit the upgrading of the county's entire law enforcement arm with each member and operating in-unison with his fellow at a comparable level of training and qualification.

We have contacted Mayor John Longo Jr., of Waveland, who assures us he will be willing to attend the meeting, as will Sheriff Sylvan Ladner who has long advocated the scheme.

Of course, we can see the obvious objections to unification and the majority of these are also too obvious to mention.

To relieve a few fears, let us state that item two of Senate Bill 2542 says, "No such power, authority and responsibility may be exercised under the provisions of this chapter which will have the effect of abolishing any office which is held by a person elected by the citizenry, without first an election being called to decide the question of the abolition of any such elected office."

We have long advocated the consolidation of school systems, the establishment of a central purchasing agency for the entire county - without exception, the streamlining of the multiplicity of overlap functions, the paring of unnecessary activities in government, and the enjoining of obvious public services.

Commissioner Ladner is lauded for his effort and we hope that in spite of signs of falter when the centralization of ad valorem tax assessment and collection was mentioned, he will continue to spearhead the amalgamation and consolidation drive.

The taxpayer cannot afford to support politicians who, when faced with alternatives to continuing budget demands, simply hike mill rates without concern for per capita income levels, on the effect of inflation on the individual purse.

The taxpayer cannot afford to support public officials who practice pork barrel politics.

The taxpayer cannot and should not afford to foot the bills of county and municipal governments who refuse to recognize the demands of a changing society.

The taxpayer cannot and should not support a multiplicity of dynasties whose mode of operation is obviously following inverse propagation patterns of the dodo.

Commissioner Ladner has taken the first step.

The taxpayers, we feel sure, will join us in awaiting, but not beyond the next election, positive political results.

Newsprint shortage here

Shall we ration words?

WASHINGTON, D.C. (WPNS) - Here's one shortage newspaper people knew about before the experts: newsprint.

The UNESCO Chronicle reports that of the 36 countries which produce newsprint, only six - Canada, Finland, Sweden, Norway, the Soviet Union and New Zealand - manufacture enough to satisfy their own needs and export a surplus.

The United States, the world's second largest producer of newsprint after Canada, consumes more than three times its annual production. Practically no newsprint is produced in Africa, and only four of eleven producer countries in Asia make enough for their own needs. In Europe, besides the three Scandinavian exporters, nine countries can satisfy their own needs, but no one else's.

Scarcity Since 1973
Newsprint supply runs in cycles. The most recent period of scarcity started in 1973, when demand began to outstrip productive capacity.

Countries hardest hit were non-producers in the less developed world. Sri Lanka (Ceylon), for example, cut its newsprint consumption in half in one year, while India imposed a 30 percent cut back on its newspapers and followed up with an additional 10 percent cut.

Developed countries had to pay higher prices for their newsprint, and publishers began to feel the pinch of rising costs, but consumption has continued to rise throughout the period of scarcity.

The years 1973 and 1974 were particularly difficult times for newsprint users. The market has loosened up a little in recent months, but experts look for another tight period beginning in 1976.

The immediate constraint is lack of enough paper mills to satisfy world demand. In the long run, however, the critical factor is the amount of timber available for cutting.

The press fights back

We can't help getting a grim satisfaction out of the reaction of the American press to the recent under-world-type slaying of Don Bolles, an investigative reporter for the Arizona Republic in Phoenix, Ariz.

The press is in the process of literally "turning the dogs loose" in an effort to smoke out those responsible for bombing his car last month in Phoenix and blowing him to kingdom come.

It seems that Bolles, who once told a colleague, "The only things that I believe in are God and children," had been hot on the trail of corruption, land fraud in Arizona and the influx of organized crime figures into Phoenix.

But we predict that the bombers contributed more to Don Bolles' fight to get at the truth than he could have.

The nation's wire services, television networks, newspapers, magazines and editorial writers have taken up his cause. Bolles' story, which was page one in the "Arizona Republic" in Phoenix before the bombing, is now page one nationwide.

The ancient idiom in the newspaper world, "don't mess with lawmen, reporters and judges," is being vindicated.

Understand, this editor is not being naive. We know that all the Don Bolleses in the world won't stamp out human avarice, greed and corruption.

But, Don Bolles gave humanity a running shot at it. Hopefully, he did not die in vain.

Municipal service hikes MEC merit program goals

A MATTER OF EXCELLENCE MUNICIPAL SERVICE

County government serves an integral role in the life of every Mississippian. It is the branch of government which is closest to the people ... the branch to which many carry their problems, seeking relief or assistance.

Many of the state's 2.3 million residents depend on the county for protection against crime and fire, along with expecting library facilities, health and sanitation assistance, proper roads and quality education. In these and other areas, county government should strive for excellence.

Many counties are doing just that by meeting the stringent requirements established by the Mississippi Economic Council's MERIT Program for counties. The nationally recognized program sets rough standards in those categories which counties must meet to capture one of the coveted awards of excellence.

Fifty-eight counties are participating in the program. Twenty-three counties have received a total of 48 awards in the 10 areas. Those areas include beautification, finance, education, fire protection, health and sanitation, law enforcement, long-range planning, public libraries, public works, and recreation.

Each of these areas is crucial to the operation of an ideal county with services which meet the standards Mississippians want and deserve.

MEC is urging participating counties to seek the designation of being the first ALL-MERIT County by virtue of receiving all 10 awards. Several counties are past, at, or near the halfway point of the program and are within easy striking distance of the prized position.

The benefits of this program are obvious, with better services and facilities in each of these fields easily recognizable in the forms of new libraries, better health and sanitation services and more quality education.

MEC's standards are high. Its goal of better government is admirable.

MOD nears drive end

Editor, Sea Coast Echo:
The 1976 March of Dimes campaign in Mississippi is coming to a close and we are tremendously proud of the success that we have achieved this year.

We recognize the value of the media in informing the public about the work of the March of Dimes and in enlisting the support of volunteers in the local communities. We are most grateful to the SEA COAST ECHO for the help you have given us this year.

Progress has been made in decreasing Mississippi's neonatal and infant mortality rate. Even so, more expectant mothers and babies die in this state than any other. The help that you have given to increase the public awareness of this problem has been a very positive part of the progress which has been made.

We thank you for the help you have given in the past, and hope that we can continue to warrant your support.

Sincerely,
John E. Rawson, M.D.
State Chairman

Is L&N in league?

EDITOR, Sea Coast Echo,
Reading the interesting article by Jake Jacob, 7-28-76, made me think of the book I read, many years ago, in the mid-twenties. It included a quote from Lenin, after the Bolshevik revolution, concerning the new order in Russia dealing particularly with how to "take over Capitalist U.S.A. with out firing a shot." I don't want to believe a private capitalist business like the L & N, is playing into the hands of the U.S.S.R. It could be possible.

There are far too many disturbances along the rails, with trains these days. I had always had this fear it would happen; think of how it will be in the dead of winter at 2 a.m. and most, if not all our population is ordered to evacuate.

What about the oil and chemical spills on the various waterways, shouldn't we be aroused from our apparent indifference?

Are we too naive to even think, all these events could be accidents?

Why excuse it via accidents? Aren't we entitled to thoughts of suspicion, as well as writing it off as "one of those things?"

Are all the murders and turmoil in our country accidents?

When police have lye thrown into their faces and three-year-old babes, shoot with 357 Magnum pistols, something serious must be wrong.

Is it too much violence on T.V., and over indulgence in permissiveness in many phases of our lives?

I will close by saying, we have gone too far. Only Divine Providence can bring true peace and tranquility to this earth, and NOT VIA THE UNITED NATIONS.

Sincerely,
Eleanor E. McFie

POSTCARD VOTER REGISTRATION

The list of critics who voiced their opposition to the Postcard Voter Registration Bill last week reads like a Who's Who Among American Voting Experts.

The National Association of Secretaries of State went on record opposing it. So did the National Association of Counties, the National Association of County Recorders, the National Association of County Clerks, the American Conservative Union, the National Municipal League, and the National Federation of Independent Businessmen.

Why were they so opposed? Well, for starters, they feared that postcard voter registration would open the door for fraud. They cringed at the exorbitant cost of such a massive project. They shuddered at the thought of the sheer volume of paperwork it would take. They couldn't bear to think of another oversized bureaucracy.

Heber Ladner, Mississippi's veteran Secretary of State and a former president of the National Association of Secretaries of State, told me bluntly and emphatically last week that postcard voter registration is "absolutely unworkable."

Still, spurred by the politically partisan liberal majority, the House of Representatives last week pulled the bill out of moth balls, rushed it through the Rules Committee, and sent it to the floor for final arguments. It was scheduled for a floor vote early this week.

Briefly, the bill would create a Voter Registration Administration within the Federal Election Commission, which would in turn pull the postal service into the act. Between 120 and 60 days prior to the close of registration before a federal election, the postal service would inundate the nation with some 200 million postcard registration forms.

Of that 200 million, the experts tell us, at least 100 million will go to Americans who are already registered to vote. That's 100 million cards - and $100 million - down the drain.

Another 60 million will be delivered to public facilities such as libraries and post offices. These are for those citizens who failed to get a form in the mail and for those families who need more than the number of forms they got in the mail.

That leaves some 40 million postcards for those eligible Americans who for one reason or another are not currently registered to vote. These are the ones at whom this entire blitz is aimed.

We've got to ask ourselves why these people are not registered in the first place. Have they been deprived? Not if the Voting Rights Act is doing what it was designed to do.

Are they interested? Are they apathetic? Are they fed up with the American political system?

Let's look at the experiences of the four states that already have postcard voter registration: Maryland, Minnesota, New Jersey, and Texas. Each had postcard registration in full operation before the 1974 elections.

Did voting increase in those states as a result of their intensive postcard drives?

Quite the contrary. Statistics reveal that voting actually decreased from the 1970 elections by 7.6 percent in those states!

The simple fact of the matter is that most people don't vote because they don't want to vote. They aren't concerned enough to vote. Registration just simply is not a barrier any longer.

"No, the postcard voter registration bill won't bring any more Americans to the polls," a colleague argued during debate on the bill. "It will just pave the way for vote fraud."

That's a good point. How would you stop someone - or some political action group - from abusing the system? How could you stop someone from registering twice or even from registering in different precincts or states?

If those aren't sufficient reasons to reject the postcard registration system, consider the cost. Estimates range anywhere from $50 million to $500 million, but those are only estimates. The real costs would probably go much higher than that.

The issue is not the right to vote. The issue is the colossal mistake of trying to register everyone by mail.

Discrimination claim draws Eastland ire

WASHINGTON - Senator James O. Eastland (D-Miss.), has sponsored legislation to outlaw government regulations barring local schools from sponsoring father-son or mother-daughter activities.

"The Department of Health, Education and Welfare has instituted regulations which would ban such activities as father-son or mother-daughter programs sponsored by an educational institution receiving federal funds," said Senator Eastland. "This ridiculous rule has been suspended by the president, pending further study."

"I firmly believe these regulations should be totally barred by amending the law to insure that these traditional programs may be continued."

The legislation sponsored by Senator Eastland also forbids the federal government from outlawing public school participation in boys and girls state activities. The amendment will exempt father-son and mother-daughter activities, as well as school participation in boys and girls state programs from inclusion in the sex discrimination sections of the education act.

The Eastland Amendment changes the Higher Education Act of 1965 and the Vocational Education Act of 1963 and specifically amends the Education Amendments of 1972. It is the 1972 Act which empowers HEW to cut off federal funds to schools which sponsor programs that HEW declares are "sexually discriminatory."

"Actions such as the HEW ruling lead to a lack of faith in our government by our citizens," said Senator Eastland. "I shall work to overturn this regulation and continue to work for a government which is responsible in its actions and responsive to the needs and opinions of the people it serves."

Journalistic enthusiasm has successful side effects

UNIVERSITY — Charles Alexander and Tyson Bridge have a rare edition of a newspaper, and they've read it from cover to cover.

The fact is, they own the only two copies, and they should because they wrote the issue.

Charles, eight-and-a-half year-old son of Dr. and Mrs. Charles Alexander, and Tyson, nine-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Bridge, all of Oxford, have been tutored through a Clinical Procedures course at the University of Mississippi Reading Services Center this summer.

And they love it.

Objectives of the course are to improve reading skills by working on a one-to-one basis with students, and to promote interest in reading.

"Tyson asked me one day what I thought about Taiwan not being in the Olympics," said Mrs. Brenda West, who tutored the boys. "I didn't really have an answer, but I began telling him about how different people have different ideas, and the concept evolved of finding out how people feel about different subjects. Once they got the information, this led to the idea for the newspaper."

Junior journalists

OXFORD CHILDREN Charles Alexander (left), Tyson Bridge and University of Mississippi graduate student Brenda West of Hopkinsville, Ky., work on the boys' edition of a newspaper which they completed for a reading project.

Although the boys were not tutored together, they labored on the project jointly.

"One important result of writing the newspaper is that it builds their self-concept and shows them what they're doing is worthwhile," said Mrs. West, a graduate student in reading from Hopkinsville, Ky.

Charles and Tyson selected stories which interested them, mostly what, why, when and where.

"Then they rewrote the stories and read back to me what they wrote and I typed them," Mrs. West said.

"Aside from the fact that they learned to sight read the 'W' words, which are used so often and which look so much alike, they discovered that reading is fun. The project also serves as reinforcement for what they learn because they can see a purpose in it."

Other information for the newspaper came from personal interviews or opinion polls which, according to their name tags, Star Reporter Mr. Alexander and Star Reporter Mr. Bridge, conducted in the Ole Miss School of Education.

"I asked people who was their favorite person in sports," said Tyson. "They liked Bruce Jenner. Their favorite football team—Ole Miss!"

The Olympics figured heavily in their edition. They kept daily tallies of scores during the games, and especially with Bruce Jenner. Another sports story is about football player Gale Sayers.

Charles asked people "to pretend they were on the first spaceship to Mars and asked them what they saw." A weather bulletin from Viking I is also included.

Both boys conducted a political poll, asking people who they thought the Mississippi Republican delegation would support (Ford); and Charles asked who they thought would be next president (Carter).

Other items in the newspaper are the "funny pages"—riddles and puzzles, a review of the book, "Dog," by Prudence Andrew, and an article on food prices.

Charles and Tyson are the first students Mrs. West has tutored, and she said, "I was lucky to get cooperative, interested children. I had to read about sports and politics to keep up with them."

Waveland scouts' court recognizes achievements

Victor Lachin, senior patrol leader, Troop 210 Boy Scouts of America, was awarded a Star Scout Progress pin Monday at the group's Court of Awards in the Waveland Community Center.

Lachin then made presentations to fellow troop members. Teddy Longo received 10 individual merit awards, plus a one year pin, while T.C. Mumme, Gerard Frommeyer, David Caserta, Tommy Holzhauser, and Carlos Lozana split an additional seven badges and pins between them.

Leader of the troop is Karl Wilcox, aided by assistant scoutmaster Reginald Fayard, Jr. The troop is sponsored by the Waveland Fire Department.

Other than his Star Scout award, Lachin received his home repairs and fishing merit badges.

Longo, whose merits included the one year pin, Paul Bunyon, Axeman and, Totin' Chip awards, was also presented his merit badges in cooking, fishing, mammals, nature, pets, rowing, and environmental science.

SSC names new faculty members

Brother Paul Montero, principal, St. Stanislaus High School, announced the naming of two new faculty members for the 1976-77 school session. Mrs. Cheryl Catalano will teach English and Mrs. Jeannie Ryan will teach reading and English.

Mrs. Catalano received her B.S. in English and history and graduated Magna Cum Laude in 1971 from the University of Southern Mississippi. She was a Dean's and President's List scholar, an Honor's Program scholar, a member of the theatrical performers, and a member of Phi Alpha Theta, Alpha Lambda Delta, and treasurer of Phi Gamma Mu. She received her M.Ed. degree in English this past May and plans to do further graduate work in English starting this September. She has taught English and history in the Long Beach Public School System for five years.

Mrs. Ryan received her B.S. in elementary education in 1974 from the University of Southern Mississippi. She also received her master's degree in elementary education from Holzhauser's awards included the swimming and canoeing merit badges, while Lozana was presented his second class progress pin. Caserta was given merits in swimming, as was Frommeyer, while Mumme won the Totin' Chip Award.

County Agent's Notes

Time not yet ripe to count crop profit

By John W. Smith

Crop prospects have improved, but don't count your yields or profits yet. What the farmer does this month will greatly influence crop profits this fall.

Some of the things you need to do this month to assure a profitable crop include close scouting of fields for insects and strict insect control.

Clean weeds out of fields to give crops a better chance to produce and to help you do a better and easier job of harvesting.

FESCUE MANAGEMENT

Most fescue pastures have grown up during the summer. This growth should be clipped before the middle of September, allowing the seed to come in contact with the soil and increase the stand of fescue.

It will also allow the fescue to produce new growth that is more digestible for cattle and more tasty than the older summer growth.

If clovers are growing in combination with the fescue, clipping will also aid in the early clover growth by removing the competition with fescue.

SEED PRODUCTION

August is a good time to check soybean fields for varietal mixtures. Beans are blooming, and flower color is one way to determine off-types. Purple and white flowers in the same field mean a varietal mixture, except in the case of the Forrest variety where a few purple flowers are acceptable.

Seed producers should pull off-type plants to get the fields clean. Also, check for weeds in soybean fields. Scattered cockleburrs can be hand pulled. Sometimes purple moonflower or balloon vine in soybeans can be removed so fields will pass inspection.

DAIRY BREEDING

Improved breeding in your dairy herd will make more money. Here are some breeding suggestions that should be followed by more dairymen: Breed cows to the very best bulls available! In most cases this means artificial insemination. Breed dairy animals to dairy bulls. To cull properly and have enough replacements, this is a must!

PROTECTING YOURSELF AGAINST LOSS

This information has been supplied by experts at The Society of Chartered Property & Casualty Underwriters, the national professional society whose members have earned the CPCU designation by meeting high educational, ethical and experience requirements.

Q. The other day I accidentally left my garden hose across the sidewalk and my neighbor tripped over it. He was okay, no bones broken. But what if he did break a leg? Does my homeowners policy protect me?

A. Yes, unless someone can prove that you left the hose there intentionally, which you obviously didn't do. But it was a hazard, and hazards like this do tend to drive up insurance costs for everyone.

Scout learns new skill at camp, returns home, saves girl's life

David Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Grady Brown, and member of Boy Scout Troop 615, Kiln, was presented a meritorious action award last Wednesday at a Court of Awards Ceremony.

Recently returned from a week of summer camp at Camp Salmen in Slidell, La., the 14 scouts in the troop earned the awards during this period.

One of the learned skills was lifesaving, a course completed by Scout Brown. It was this training that enabled him to rescue five-year-old Tiffany Favre, after she had been accidentally pushed into the deep end of a private swimming pool.

District Scout Commissioner Ed Friloux presented a plaque to Scout Brown and a citation to his mother.

Sponsored by VFW Post 6285, the troop qualified for 25 awards and merit badges while in camp. In addition to these, they received their new rank advancements at the court.

With all presentations being made by scoutmaster Vernon Peterson, rank award, and merit recipients were: Larry Necaise, scout, fishing; A.J. Candebat, scout, fishing; Russell Necaise, tenderfoot, basketry; Keith Glass, tenderfoot, swimming; Derrick Collier, tenderfoot, basketry, fishing, beekeeping; David Brown, fishing; Chuck LaDell, second class, basketry, first aid, environmental science, farm arrangement; Lyle Peterson, beekeeping, pioneering, environmental science; Eric Peterson, Citizenship in the World, beekeeping, rowing, canoeing, pioneering.

Troop 615 has also participated in the All Out for Scouting program, and has several of its members participating in week-long training camps.

Eric Peterson has additionally attended Brownsea 22 for Senior Patrol Leaders, and patrol leaders LaDell and Lyle Peterson have completed the Troop Leader Development Course.

'What's new in business'

The latest business enterprise currently prospering in Bay St. Louis is a lemonade stand owned and operated by eight-year-old Rhonda Raincon. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Raincon, the young career woman supplements her allowance by selling approximately 20 cups of lemonade daily at 10 cents a glass. Rhonda puts in anywhere from 10 to five hours a day at her stand located at the corner of Main and Necaise. Customer John Kidd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lucien Kidd, was reportedly on his third glass when this photograph was taken. —Photo by J. Lolacano

Farmers warned of co-op rip off

Mississippi Attorney General A.F. Summer this week warned farmers and others in the agriculture business to be on the lookout for a possible "get rich scheme" in newly-formed farmer's cooperative associations which are selling promissory notes.

Hancock County Agent John W. Smith said a new cooperative's representatives had been in the area approximately two months ago, and added that local farmers, wary of their program, did not purchase the promissory note, nor commit themselves to the required $350 annual payment.

Smith said the operators patterned their co-op after current working systems "but the annual payment was about $200 more than it should have been," he said.

Summer said that while details of the swindle vary from state to state in a 10-state region, the Consumer Protection Division of his office has discovered similar main characteristics. They are as follows:

A new farmer's cooperative or association is formed, and one or more prominent local citizens are listed as officers or members. These local citizens usually are not aware of what is actually taking place, but their names are used to draw in other victims.

The farmer if told that if he joins, he'll be able to buy equipment, seed, supplies, etc., at reduced prices and then sell his produce and livestock at higher prices plus receive a share of the gross sales of a cooperative store, plus receive seven percent on his investment. In order to join, he must invest in a 20-year savings certificate or promissory note of the co-op for which he pays about $350 per year. When the certificate matures in 20 years, he supposedly will get back all the money he's paid in plus a certain rate of interest compounded annually. He's led to believe that his price saving on any farm item (such as a tractor or fencing) will more than offset the $350 annual payment. He's also promised the use of grain elevators and other cooperative facilities and discounts when purchasing.

The promoters and their employees take most of the full first year payment ($350) as their "commission" for selling the savings certificate to the farmer. The salesman gets from 45-70 percent of the money and his supervisor gets an override.

Since the cooperative had no money or assets to begin with, it still has nothing, or very little, although $350 has been paid in by hundreds of farmers. The assets of the co-op will still be negligible. The managers of the co-op simply don't have enough money to do anything for the farmers, even if they had intended to do something in the beginning.

Just in case there is any money remaining after the first huge bite for commissions, the promoters usually will have signed, as representatives of the cooperative, a management or consultant contract for some other company to manage the business of the cooperative. The manager's "sweetheart" company, i.e., it is run by cohorts of the promoters, and its fee is quite large.

The promoters and the "manager" go through the motions (for awhile) of launching the new enterprise and opening locations. They show a decided preference for buying things on credit, as opposed to paying cash. When the enterprise eventually, but inevitably, leaves the scene, any appearance of having "skipped out" with the money is avoided. The "hoped-for success" is that things just didn't work out—they tried but just couldn't quite put it all together. This makes it more difficult to prosecute them.

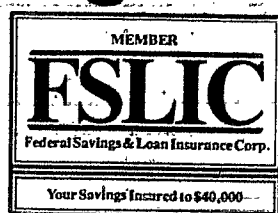

Mississippi farmers are urged to be very careful about turning over money to strangers purporting to organize a new cooperative, Summer said, adding, "There are, of course, many honest and legitimate cooperative associations serving their members well, and other legitimate ones will be forced in the future."

CCF director supplies personal property list

According to Hancock Tax Assessor George Heltzmann, Crippled Children Foundation (CCF) President David M. Turner last week supplied a list of personal property of the foundation therapy center at Kiln, thus fulfilling a request from Hancock supervisors which followed an investigation last month by the Mississippi Coast Crime Commission of alleged mismanagement of CCF funds.

Heltzmann said he received invoices on the center's contents, all of which, he said, appear to be documented in the foundation's name.

He said the foundation would be assessed at 25 percent of the invoice price if Turner does not apply for and receive tax relief as a charitable organization.

Heltzmann said earlier that he had placed a $4,825 assessment on the actual building and the property on which it was located. He added that, based on his assessment, CCF would owe approximately $350 in 1976 ad valorem taxes.

The foundation, chartered in Hancock County in January, has not been previously assessed, Heltzmann said, because it was believed to have tax exempt status.

However, recent reports revealed that such status has not been granted by the Internal Revenue Service and foundation officials have never petitioned the board of supervisors for tax relief.

Several Hancock supervisors performed road and drainage work on the property at the director's request after Turner indicated it had been donated to him and that he in turn would donate it to the county.

The property in question, approximately one acre, still remains a portion of a larger parcel of land owned by Turner and his wife, Martha. The foundation has paid $194 monthly, the same amount as Turner's mortgage payment, for approximately one year for use of the property under a lease agreement.

Immediate deeding of the center property to the CCF was another recommendation made in the Crime Commission.

USM-Gulf Park offers first religion course

LONG BEACH—"The Life and Teachings of Jesus" is title of the first course in religion to be taught at the University of Southern Mississippi-Gulf Park, announced Dr. John Burch, director of academic affairs.

The course will be taught by Dr. Graham Lee Hales, the USM chaplain, from 6-10:30 p.m. on Tuesdays during the coming fall quarter. The course, Religion 334, carries three semester hours of credit.

"This course examines the complex background in the Roman and Jewish worlds which is necessary for and understanding of what Jesus of Nazareth said and did," said Dr. Hales.

Besides the text, the earliest records—the Gospels of Mark, Matthew and Luke—will be closely examined and discussed, and the extra-biblical writings of the period will be noted.

"This is not a sectarian course," explained Dr. Hales. "It does not seek to convince the student of any particular answers to the various questions raised by the subject matter. Rather it hopes to enable each student to obtain the vital data necessary for his own conclusions."

The class will include lecture, audio-visual aides, and much opportunity for class discussion and participation. Course requirements include two tests, an optional text, and a final examination.

Should this course in religion be popularly attended, other courses will be taught in the future, according to Dr. Burch.

Veterans and service members may receive full GI Bill benefits while training for a high school diploma without depletion of their basic GI Bill entitlement.

Two sets of bids were put under advisement by board members, the first reason was to determine actual bid request wording, and the second to ascertain the lowest and best bid.

Wallace Business Machines and Lanier Business Products, both of Gulfport, bid $4,500 and $2,895 respectively on a copy making machine for the superintendent's office. Board attorney Joseph Gex, after reviewing the difference in bids, said he wanted to check the specifications advertised to ascertain if any ambiguity exists.

The second set of bids put under advisement were for waste water treatment and plant monitoring services at North Central, Gulfview, and C. B. Murphy.

Waste Water Plant Servicing, Co., of Pass Christian, bid $220 a month to provide routine services, plus $60 per quarter for completing the necessary reports in connection with the job.

Sydney Sandoz, of Bay St. Louis, split his bid into three, with monthly fees of $109 for North Central, and $79 each for Gulfview and C. B. Murphy. Michael O'Hara of Perkinston came in with a straight bid of $300 per month.

Higginbotham named campaign director of American Party

JACKSON-Gary Higginbotham, 32, Biloxi, has been named director of the Anderson-Shackelford American Party presidential campaign in Mississippi.

The appointment was announced by national campaign chairman George Melton in a message to the Mississippi American Party Executive Committee which met here this week.

Higginbotham, an engineering technician on the Gulf Coast, directed the 1972 Congressional campaign of Charles Blackwell for the Democratic nomination. He also served in Blackwell's campaign for State House of Representatives from Harrison County in 1973.

During the 1976 Democratic conventions, he was elected a precinct delegate for George Wallace and a member of the Jackson County Democratic Executive Committee.

When the American Party began its drive for ballot position, Higginbotham resigned from the Democratic Party and worked vigorously to help the new party win official recognition.

Higginbotham, a native of Galveston, Texas, was reared in Biloxi and was educated at D'Iberville and St. Martin Ladner called the session for Thursday, Aug. 19, provisionally at the city hall's council chamber, and received a unanimous vote in spite of the ideological differences.

"We must first of all determine if this idea has any legs.

"I feel if we can meet and discuss the police force merging as a group, and then take it back to our respective councils for further talk we are moving ahead," Ladner said.

He continued "everybody is asking for more money and we must do our best for the taxpayer. I really feel the iron is hot and the idea must be pursued."

Asked if his initial reluctance to favor such a meeting between municipal and county officials in any way stemmed from a reluctance to "give up" the police department, Carver replied with an emphatic, "No it is not."

"I just think we ought to first institute a study to see what has to be done," he said.

Kidd, in disagreement, said he thought it better to first ascertain and develop the desire, and then, if necessary, contact agencies to make a study, if such is required.

Plan offered to determine CZM areas

Responsible Management Group (RMG) announced Monday the Mississippi Plan, a new plan for determining the coastal zone management area.

According to RMG officials, the Mississippi Plan calls for the Mississippi Marine Resources Council to develop management services it considers necessary to conform to federal standards. The plan further requires the Council to offer these services at appropriate prices to all property owners, who may then choose to have their property managed by the Council or otherwise.

"In this manner, the coastal zone management area will be automatically established," an RMG spokesman said. He said additional advantages will benefit both property owners and government agencies by minimizing the need for large bureaucratic agencies, inter-agency administrative conflicts, large excessive new governmental bodies, and unnecessary restraints of industry and agriculture.

The spokesman said copies of both the formal Public Proposal made earlier this year to the Council and a brief explanation of the plan are available at local Chambers of Commerce or by telephoning 452-9987.

Children's fishing rodeo gets underway

The Waveland Jaycee's fourth annual children's fishing rodeo will get underway Sat., Aug. 14 at 8 a.m. at the Garfield Memorial Pier. Boys and girls ages six to 16 are eligible to participate. Registrations will be accepted prior to 10 a.m. Saturday and preregistration forms are available at the Blarney Castle, Coleman Ave., and at Quality Drugs, Our Shopping Center.

Scales will close at 4 p.m. and prizes in numerous categories will be awarded at 4:30 p.m. Publicity Chairman Al Von Antz said this week that the Jaycees are expecting some records to be broken during the year's event. He said last year's King Fisherman, Benny Burst, caught 13 pounds, 10 ounces of fish, with over 200 pounds of fish caught by the participants.

Deek's Bill ducks back on winning track

(Special to The Echo) PEARL RIVER, LA. Deek's Bill got back on the winning track here Sunday at Oak Downs with a Class A clocking.

Owned by Eugene Necaise of Kiln and trained by Louis Smith of Gulfport, Deek's Bill was timed in 21.20 seconds in capturing the 400-yard ninth against Smokey Joe Go (21.52).

In his last outing (July 25), Deek's Bill, only a two-year-old, ran against older competition and was fourth in Class A time of 18.89 for 350 yards.

Lesil Dedaux of Hancock County had two winners. Lady

Bars Leo won the 200-yard second and Bam Bars took the three-furlong seventh.

Charlie Silkwood of Gulfport won more than half the races Sunday and pulled ahead of Dennis Ory for the top spot in the jockey standings.

Silkwood had winning mounts in the second, third, fourth, fifth, seventh and ninth races on the 11-race program.

Top performance of the day was turned in by Bud Cash's Bo Rimbo with a Top AA clocking of 18.31 seconds in winning the 350-yard eighth against Trojan's Gal (18.63) and Cookie's Red Boy (18.69). The only other Class AA rating was posted by Billy Sims' Rags in the 400-yard 10th. Rags was timed in 20.92 seconds in beating Go Falla Go (21.64).

Sunday's results:
1) 440 yards, Stump Jumper, no time, Carey Walker, owner; Wayne Smith, trainer; Dennis Ory, jockey, Flash, second. Charlie Boy, third.

2) 300 yards, Lady Bars Leo, 17.06, Lesil Dedaux, owner and trainer; Charlie Silkwood, jockey. Buck-A-Luck, 17.12.

3) 300 yards, Susie Q, 16.45, Barron Goss, owner; Clyde Moran, trainer; Charlie Silkwood, jockey. Jacksam, 16.52, Scar Leg, 16.52. Soo Much, 16.81. Rebel Star, 17.11.

4) 350 yards, Raider's Bill, 19.18, James Fairley, owner and trainer; Charlie Silkwood, jockey. Baldy, second.

5) 3 furlongs, Millie's Trick, 38.875, James Fairley, owner and trainer; Charlie Silkwood, jockey. Bay Gold, 39.29.

Space age computers brought 'down to earth' at Pearl River

POPLARVILLE--Computers, the space age wonder, have enabled man to land on the moon and just recently have put the Viking lander on the surface of the planet Mars.

But more down to earth uses of the "electronic brain" have been for efficient, fast, and precise data handling of complex modern day businesses.

The computer industry has provided the "life support" needed by the nation to support a modern day information processing system.

Pearl River Junior College offers a one and two year data processing program that enables students to find a place in this fast growing and important industry.

"Job opportunities in data processing are expanding," Thomas Peebles, PRC instructor said. "As long as the nation's industries and businesses expand, so will the need for computers and individuals to operate them."

"Process information, faster and with greater accuracy, is the trend," Peebles said.

Data processing does not require that the individual know a high degree of mathematics. "You don't have to be an Einstein to work with computers," Peebles said, "although some mathematical reasoning is needed."

The higher percentage of personnel in computer programming today are in business programming which emphasizes basic math through accounting principles.

Pearl River's one year program is designed to prepare persons to enter jobs as keypunch, verifier, and computer operators. The two year program is designed primarily to prepare persons to enter the field of computer programming.

In both programs, up-to-date business principles are stressed and instruction is related to application in the business world. English with emphasis on reading is also stressed in the curriculum.

On many occasions it has been said that computers run the world - in a sense this is true. But it is also true that someone must run these electronic brains.

Data processor Thomas Peebles, data processing instructor at Pearl River Junior College, says his PRC course prepares students to enter jobs as keypunch, verifier and computer operators or as computer programmers.

Veterans housing act amendment brings increase loan guaranty

Increased guaranty on mobile home loans and extended eligibility to 250,000 peacetime veterans were among features of the Veterans Housing Amendments Act of 1976 signed into law by President Ford June 30.

Ralph H. Martin, VA Loan Guaranty Officer, pointed out that more than 9.3 million veterans have borrowed $122.9 billion under the Veterans Administration's Loan Guaranty Program since it was established in 1944. The guaranty is a substitute for investment protection sought by lenders through substantial down-payments and shorter terms in making conventional mortgage loans. Mobile homes and mobile home lots were added in 1970, with a guarantee of 30 percent. The new law increased this guarantee to 50 percent, effective July 1, of an unpaid balance up to a maximum of $12,500 on single wide units. For a double-wide unit, the maximum guarantee is $20,000.

Veterans' gaining eligibility for GI home loans for the first time, effective Oct. 1, are those whose active duty occurred after July 25, 1947, and prior to June 17, 1950. They must have served for more than 180 days under conditions other than dishonorable or have been discharged with less service for a service-connected disability, Martin noted.

Unmarried surviving spouses of veterans who served during this period also will be eligible if the veteran died while on active duty or as a result of a service-connected disability.

Veterans with service overlapping the peacetime service dates who derived entitlement from World War II or Korean Conflict service will not acquire new entitlement as a result of the new law, Martin said.

Also effective Oct. 1 is an increase in the amount of direct loans that can be made by the VA to eligible veterans or servicemen from $21,000 to $33,000.

The direct loan program extends credit for purchase, construction, repair and alteration of homes and farmhouses in some rural or private credit is not generally available.

Complete information on GI home loans is available from all VA offices or veterans' organization service officers.

Most types of sandwiches, when properly packaged, freeze satisfactorily. Sandwich fillings may also be frozen in small containers for later use. Fillings take less space in the freezer than the sandwiches, though the frozen sandwich saves last-minute preparation for lunch boxes and picnics. Use the following recipes or your own favorites with some changes to adapt them to freezing.

To prepare and freeze sandwiches: These fillings freeze well: Cheddar cheese or cream cheese, sliced or ground meat and poultry, fish, cooked egg yolk, peanut butter and other nut pastes and olives and pickles.

These fillings do not freeze well: Raw vegetables that lose their appetizing crispness and flavor (lettuce, carrots, tomatoes, etc.) when frozen. Fruit jellies and mayonnaise and salad dressing (except when mixed with another food, like peanut butter) are likely to soak into the bread and make the sandwich soggy.

Prepare filling and assemble all needed ingredients and equipment. Use day old bread. Spread inside of each piece of bread from edge to edge with a thin layer of softened butter or margarine. This helps to keep bread from absorbing moisture from filling.

Fill sandwiches. Wrap as they will be used (one or two to a package) in moisture-vapor proof material. Seal and label with kind of filling and date. Freeze immediately. Place in a box to prevent crushing.

Freeze fillings instead of sandwiches if you prefer. Prepare fillings from favorite recipe with changes to adapt for freezing. Spoon into small jars or moisture-vapor proof containers, leaving head space. Freeze.

To thaw sandwiches: Regular sandwiches - Thaw in original sealed wrappings. A package of two sandwiches will thaw at room temperature in from three to three and a half hours; therefore, frozen sandwiches packed in a school lunch will be thawed by lunch time.

Fillings: Thaw overnight in refrigerator. Use as you would fresh fillings. Use immediately after thawing. Storage time: Sandwiches - three to four weeks; Fillings - three to six months.

FILLING RECIPES
SLICED MEATS: Sliced cooked meats and poultry. Make into sandwiches for freezing or cover sliced meats with broth and freeze for sandwiches.

PIMIENTO CHEESE SPREAD: Grate 2 pounds of cheddar cheese (8 cups grated. (Add 1 1/2 to cups of milk and 1/4 cup vinegar gradually while beating with wooden spoon or electric mixer. (If you use process cheese, use much less milk.) Mix until creamy. Add 1 cup finely chopped pimiento. Makes spread for 36 sandwiches.

MINCED MEAT SPREAD: Grind leftover cooked meat (smoked ham, roast chicken, beef, lamb, or pork) and add just enough salad dressing to spread. Chopped pickle, stuffed olives, pimiento or relish may be added for seasoning.

PEANUT BUTTER FILLINGS: Add enough honey or marmalade to peanut butter so that it spreads easily.

Mix three-ounce package cream cheese, one-third cup peanut butter, 1 tablespoon orange juice, 1 teaspoon grated orange rind. Fills 4 sandwiches.

Mix 1/4 cup peanut butter, 1/4 cup chopped nut meats and three mashed bananas thoroughly. White bread is best for this filling. Makes spread for 6 sandwiches.

Mix 1/4 cup chopped, pitted cooked prunes with 1/4 cup peanut butter, 2 tablespoons lemon juice and 2 tablespoons prune juice.

DRIED BEEF AND CHEESE SPREAD: Chop or grind about 6 slices of dried beef and combine them with a three-ounce package of cream cheese, 1 teaspoon prepared horseradish and a few grains of pepper.

keeping you in touch

By F. M. Kyle, Jr.

The dial tone you get when you lift the receiver of your telephone is the sound of the Bell System at work. When Mississippi customers of South Central Bell use their phone, they get a dial tone in less than three seconds 99.7 percent of the time. In large cities, small towns, and isolated farms, this vast network is drawn upon daily for countless social and business transactions. The simple act of lifting your telephone handset puts you within a few seconds' reach of over 140 million other telephones in this country. So the next time you hear the dial tone, remember - it's the sound of a nationwide network designed, built, installed, and maintained by local Bell System companies working to serve you in an ever-growing variety of ways.

Never time to do it right, but always time to do it over again. Sound familiar? Well, I don't know where this saying originated, but it certainly applies to a modern-day malady known as the "wrong-number blues."

People get in a hurry, dial a wrong number, unnecessarily interrupt the person called in error and cause themselves the bother of redialing the call. Why make two, when one call will do! Here's how:

- Know the correct number. If you are not sure, look it up in your directory and write it down. Don't guess. Our business office will be glad to furnish you a list for recording frequently called numbers.
- Listen for the dial tone.
- Dial promptly and accurately, dialing each digit until your finger touches the finger stop. If you force or slow the dial's return, you'll reach a wrong number.
- If you make a mistake, hang up for a few seconds; make sure you have the dial tone; then dial the number again.

Remember and use these simple tips and you'll mute the "wrong-number blues."

DIAL-A-BARGAIN! Dial the One-Plus way from 11 p.m. to 8 a.m. any night and from 8 a.m. Saturday until 5 p.m. Sunday and you'll save the most. When you dial One-Plus calls during these time periods, you'll get a 60 percent discount off the 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekday One-Plus rate. Make One-Plus night and weekend dialing a habit - it's thrifty!

(*Low One-Plus rates do not apply to Zero-Plus dialed, operator-handled, or coin telephone calls.)

KNOST REGATTA - Bay Waveland's skipperettes won all three races of the 39th annual Knost Regatta for the GYA Ladies Sailing Championship. Marian Knost, along with many other members of the Knost family, welcomed the participants and spectators to this popular skipperette competition held each year at Pass Christian Yacht Club.

Elizabeth Chapman skippered the first race for BWYC with Amy Chapman and Cindy Steffel crewing. With an excellent start they steadily moved ahead to win with a tremendous lead over the fleet of eight flying Scots.

The second race was won by Chris Steffel, Cindy Steffel and Elizabeth Chapman crewing. Ellen Andre of Gulfport Yacht Club offered the greatest threat as they led the second race with the Bay Waveland team caught and passed them on the final leg of the course.

Ann Steffel, with her crew Chris Steffel and Amy Chapman, won the final race to complete a perfect series for Bay Waveland.

Rainy Day Sport

How can you change a day of rain to a day of good plain fun for your active outdoor-minded youngsters? Now parents can keep ahead of the game by introducing their offspring to an athletic sort of electronic indoor sport.

This good sport puts the TV screen to good use as a game board, and both quick thinking and manual dexterity come into play. Called Odyssey and made by Magnavox, it hooks up to any make TV, color or black and white of any size. The players direct the action from a special control center included in the set.

There are three games: tennis, hockey and smash—that come with all the necessary materials for young sports to have a smashing time. It's amusing—without abusing your furniture.

Youngsters and adults can have such fun with it there's really no need to save it for a rainy day.

Prevention of Blindness Society to distribute home eye test kits

Free Home Eye Test Kits for preschool children will soon be going out to approximately 4,000 homes in Mississippi. The helpful kits for testing the vision of preschoolers are provided by the Mississippi Society for Prevention of Blindness and will be distributed as a public service of the Welcome Wagons of Mississippi.

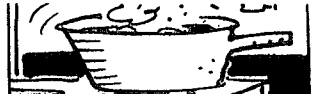

The Home Eye Test Kit developed by the National Society for Prevention of Blindness - lets children play the "Pointing E" game for early detection of vision problems. The kit, a scaled-down version of the standard Snellen E chart, is scored on a pass-fail system. Simple instructions prepare a parent to train the child, to give the test and interpret results. Should the child fail, the parent is advised to take him for a professional examination.

The test only indicates the child may have an eye problem.

Through this free gift to newcomers and new parents, the Mississippi Society and the Welcome Wagon hope to find the one child in every 20 who has amblyopia or lazy-eye blindness which must be corrected before age six to save sight.

The Mississippi Society for Prevention of Blindness is a non-profit, volunteer health agency dedicated to preventing the 50 percent of all blindness that is needless.

Hitchman to launch Pearl River campaign

Dennis Hitchman, independent candidate for Congress, announced this week the beginning of his regional campaign to reach the 12 county districts he seeks to represent.

'Aug. 9-14 will be 'Pearl River County week' for us," he said. "It will be the first county where we spend one full week intensively working to carry our message to every person there."

Among the towns in Pearl River County he is scheduled to visit are Nicholson, Ozona, McNeil, Carriere, Poplarville. He said a rally is planned in Piquette at 10:30 a.m. Aug. 14 where he will deliver a major position statement on what he calls "the threat of American Socialism."

George County will be the site of his concentrated campaign efforts the following week.

Buccaneer Crew Notes

by DIDDY QUINLAN

Last weekend's fun began Friday with the children's story hour presented by Ms. June Dearman. At 8:00 p.m. anxious contestants made their way to the Rec Hall for the ping pong tournament. Jeff Sheppard, 16, of La Combe won first place followed by Scott Goings, 10, of Zachary.

Impromptu volleyball game was organized in the swimming pool early Saturday afternoon. After that was finished, a shuffleboard match took place on the courts. All the old pros were there, challenged by some newcomers to the game.

Gerard Freeman of Bay St. Louis discovered he had a new talent. Although it was his first time ever to try the sport, he won first place in the competition! Later in the night the campers relaxed in the Rec Hall while watching a slide show of Hancock County.

The bonfire, which had been scheduled for the weekend before but had been rained out, attracted lots of campers. Sunday the Rev. P.J. Paramore of the Assembly of God Church in Waveland began the day with a worship service. Later in the morning all the young swimmers had a chance to show their abilities in the pool races. In the 9-10 year old division, first place was won by Annette Theriot, 10, of Chauvin, followed by Mike Dikes, 9, of Biloxi. In the 11-13 division, John Stahlhut, 13, of Ocean Springs stole first place, with Joe Scalfaro, 12, of Ocean Springs coming in a close second. In the relays, John Stahlhut, Kenneth Travis, and Swayne Dikes took the honors, followed by the team of Annette Theriot, Mike Dikes, Mark Hevert and Joe Scalfaro.

The new nature trail in the East part of the park has attracted many visitors since its official opening last weekend. It was built by school students in the Youth Conservation Corps without the aid of power tools. Besides the bird observatory, there are also walkways over the marshes and numerous points of interest labeled with markers. In the same area, plans are now underway for the construction of a playground for the children.

ETV to offer credit courses

Mississippi ETV will again this school year offer television courses for college credit, beginning the week of August 29.

Persons interested in receiving credit for the televisions may contact the junior or senior college or university through which they would like to earn credit.

The courses are "As Man Behaves," "Open Math," "Dimensions in Cultures," "Communication One" and "The Adams Chronicles." Successful completion of each course may yield three semester hours of credit.

"As Man Behaves" is a general introductory course in psychology. It aims to acquaint students with basic psychological terms, concepts, principles and methodological approaches associated with the scientific study of behavior. It will be broadcast at 10 p.m., Tuesdays and Fridays, with repeats of Tuesday lessons at 3 p.m., Sundays, and repeats of Friday lessons at 3:30 p.m., Sundays. The course begins Tuesday, August 31.

"Open Math" is a course for elementary and junior high school teachers of mathematics. The course is designed so that requirements can be fulfilled for credit toward recertification. The series can be seen at 6 p.m., Mondays, with repeats at 3 p.m., Tuesdays. The course begins Monday, August 30.

"Dimensions in Cultures" is a general introductory course in cultural anthropology. The course examines the process of culture and personality development and the methods and techniques employed by anthropologists in the study of their field. Lessons will be aired at 10 p.m., Sundays and Wednesdays, with repeats of Sunday lessons at 3 p.m., Saturdays, and repeats of Wednesday lessons at 3:30 p.m., Saturdays. The course begins Sunday, August 29.

"Communication One" is a Mississippi ETV-produced series on the function of communication in man's life—how it contributes to many of his problems and how it is indispensable in effectively relating to other people. The course can be seen at 10 p.m., Mondays and Thursdays, with repeats of Monday lessons at 4 p.m., Saturdays, and repeats of Thursday lessons at 4 p.m., Sundays. The course begins Monday, August 30.

"The Adams Chronicles" is the award-winning series on the historic Adams family and its role in shaping American history. The series premiered in January. It is scheduled for 7 p.m., Mondays, beginning September 20. Each program will be repeated at 5 p.m., Saturdays.

College credit courses can be seen on the Mississippi Educational Television Network (channels 19, Biloxi; 12, Booneville; 17, Bude; 23, Greenwood; 29, Jackson; 14, Meridian; 2, Mississippi State; and 18, Oxford-University).

ORDINANCE NO. 71

ORDINANCE ESTABLISHING STATISTICAL REPORTING REQUIREMENTS FOR MARINE FISHERIES IN THE STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

Commissioner O'Barr offered the following Ordinance:

In compliance with the Commission order of December 1, 1975, establishing a statistical division, the following reporting requirements are spelled out and made a part of this ordinance. Data from each firm processing any marine fishery products will be required annually.

Shrimp: Employees of the Marine Conservation Commission are authorized and empowered to take information on each vessel or boat trip landed in Mississippi. Data obtained from the captain or other crewmen is as follows: total catch by species, area in which the vessel fished, depth fished, the number of hours fished in each area and the size of the shrimp. Since it may be impossible to interview every fishing craft, copies of the purchases slip at the processing or landing firm will be obtained. Interview data from vessels will serve as a sample which will be used to estimate the total landings. All of the state vessels shrimping in Mississippi waters will be required to report catch of each trip and pay all taxes due on shrimp caught in Mississippi waters.

Pet food: Weight of tonnage landed and number of oysters fished, area fished and depth fished by each vessel. Weights, actual weight of catch, will be obtained from the company where the catch was landed.

Menhaden: The captain of each vessel fishing for menhaden in Mississippi waters is required to maintain a log book and complete all log entries for each set made during each day's operation. Reports will be collected every two weeks by personnel of the Mississippi Marine Conservation Commission. Failure of the captain to properly maintain the log in accordance with printed instructions contained in each book, or to falsify any information contained therein will, upon conviction, be subjected to the penalties provided in Section 48-15-43 of the Mississippi Statutes. Books will be furnished by the Mississippi Marine Conservation Commission. An annual report by month on processed products (meal, oil and solubles) will be required of each firm.

Trip tickets will be required of oystermen for all oyster trips. Oysters must be inspected for size and quantity and the destination (firm name) must be indicated. Data on purchases of oysters landed in Mississippi must be furnished by each firm.

Crabs: The quantity landed by each crabber will be obtained from each plant once each week. Statistical personnel will copy firm records and will interview crabbers for area in which they set their traps.

Red snapper: Data on landings by vessel will be supplied by purchasing firm weekly. A sample interview of the area and depth fished and the quantity of each species of fish taken in each area will be furnished by each slipper when requested.

Littoral species: (spotted sea trout, red fish, flounder, mullet, etc.) Each firm or individual, whether or not licensed by the Marine Conservation Commission, purchasing fish for resale from net or hook and line fishermen will keep a record of quantity and species purchased from each fisherman. These records will be furnished by the Mississippi Marine Conservation Commission on request and on prescribed forms furnished by the Commission. Response to monthly questionnaires will be required of net fishermen each month by reporting catch and area of capture when requested by this Commission regardless of whether the fish were sold, given away or consumed by the fisherman. Reporting will be by questionnaire mailed to each fisherman.

Bait operators: Daily records on sales of bait and other shrimp, chum, squid, crabs (hard and soft), bull minnows and other bait products will be kept and reported on Mississippi Marine Conservation Commission Form S-2.

Authority is vested in this Commission to require reporting for any research project and persons receiving questionnaires are required to report factually.

This Ordinance is in force from August 12, 1976, hereafter and any person refusing to supply information to this Commission or falsifying same is subject to a fine of $100 for each offense.

The motion was seconded by Commissioner Palge and unanimously carried.

Kantcha Ketchum

By L.S. (Doc) Elliott

There are plenty of fishing places hereabout, but one that usually pays off is Bayou Cadet from its mouth to its head. Salt water fish, speckle trout, white trout, redfish and flounders are at the mouth where it empties into the Bay, and bass and perch at the head, where there is some mighty good fly fishing and casting almost the year round. Either launch near the mouth or put in at the head on the Ansley Road at the Catholic church. Fishing is usually good in the main bayou. In winter time, speckles are caught off the banks of the three canals off the bayou. Right now, according to Clarence Beauden, he caught speckles, white trout and red fish in the bayou. As a fishing spot you can't beat Bayou Cadet.

Made a fishing trip last week down to Black Bayou, Kaufman Bayou, Johnson Pass, Mills Bayou, etc. Looks like Johnson Pass and both sides of Middle River are being taken over by high grown bull grass. Of course, fish can still be caught in the sloughs of Middle River. The water in these streams is clear now, but the fish are not cooperating. Believe it or not the best bass fishing is in the fall of the year.

We refer mostly to bass, called (green trout) a fresh water fish. But there is also Channell Bass (Bar Bass, Barfish, Bull, Redfish) which are salt water fish. A relatively good food fish depending on size taken from water. Flavor is excellent if fish is under 18 pounds. They reach 75 pounds and are caught mostly by casting.

SPORTSMAN OF THE WEEK—Elliott Cuevas, grimacing with the effort, hoists a 27 pound red fish he caught on a fishing expedition this weekend.

Channell catfish is present in practically every body of water in the state. They are caught on trout lines, but will also hit bugs used on a casting or fly rod. They usually run about five pounds, but get as large as 60 pounds. Catfish are considered valuable commercially. Known as the cleanest of all catfish. When cut in one inch squares and fried they are a delicious eating fish.

Shell crackers are one of the best perch. Men are a real fighter when hooked on a fly rod or even perch pole. These fish travel in schools. When located, just keep catching them.

Was a pleasure meeting Gus Elmer who has a home in Fenton, Miss., just a hop and jump from Bay St. Louis. Gus is an active member of the Bay-Waveland Gun and Rod Club. He enjoys all kind of fishing, crabbing, etc., and right now fishing for Spanish mackerel which make their appearance this time of the year. A good bait to use for them are small croakers, mullet or shiners. Hook bait so they can swim about 2 1/2 feet off the bottom. Good luck with them Gus. A sinker will help.

Vernon, Haas of Kiln ac-ording to Gus Elmer is really a flounder catcher. It is his specialty when not catching white perch. White perch, sac-a-lae or better known as crapple are caught mostly up Rotten Bayou or Jourdan River. Tree tops, sunken logs are their favorite hide outs and feeding places. They are one of our best eating fish.

Understand Norman Benigno has joined us retirees. Says he is gonna go fishing and hunting. About time, fellow. Bill Johnson has taken over in his place. Success Bill in your new undertaking.

What all fly fishermen and casters have been waiting for, has happened. Pearl River is clear for the first time this year from above Logtown to the mouth. Ray Garner and myself caught some bass Tuesday which weighed three pounds. Tides were exceptionally low and fell all day.

The trout were hitting surface baits, popping bugs.

Fish right outside the grassline for best results. Caught some bass in the big canal at Malutto Bayou. This section is usually good especially at the mouth near the big slough at the Port and Harbor proper.

The Pearlinton launching ramp is getting to be a popular place. Leaving from this ramp one can go salt water or fresh water fishing. Going north up Pearl River there is Logtown, Old River, I-10 section, English Bayou and Mike's River where there is some mighty good fresh water fishing. A trip to this section is something different now that the "Mighty Pearl" is clear.

Don't forget the small bayous off main rivers. Fish them whenever the tide is falling. Fished one the other day and caught 10 nice bass, not throw backs. One was over two and one-half pounds. These fish are raised in these bayous and stay there until caught. The streams including Pearl River have never been stocked, according to my knowledge.

When fresh water fishing, when you catch a small bass throw it back. Think of when you catch it again it will be almost twice the same size. Bass have a hard life, dodging gars, keeping out of the way of otters, alligators and even fish eating birds.

Rebels gear up for season opener

UNIVERSITY. — Like death and taxes, the calendar is inexorable, and the Rebel chart indicates without fear of contradiction that football is ready for the starting gun.

For Ole Miss into Ken Cooper's third season as the football boss, the starting date for inaugural practice sessions is Friday, Aug. 13.

Actually, Cooper's Rebels gathered Wednesday evening and will head into a medical checkover today. They'll drill Friday, Saturday and the following Monday in shorts. Thereafter, it will be full steam ahead in the makeready for the Sept. 4 opener with Memphis State.

Just as that game and date are the earliest in Ole Miss football history, so, too, is the starting date the earliest on record. Time was — not too long ago — when Sept. 1 was the universal starting date. But with the addition of the 11th game back in 1971, that barrier was dropped.

Cooper and his staff started and finished with several obvious replacement problems last spring. The first and most obvious is the offensive line, from wideouts to the tackles, then the center, and a pair of fine running backs in James Reed and Paul Hofer.

Also, both kickers graduated. And a pair of starters from the defensive line.

Collectively, a total of 17 lettermen moved on. Some can be replaced overnight but others cannot. And depth, a vital commodity, will have to be developed on both offense and defense.

For example, Tim Ellis, now a skilled veteran at quarterback, returns for his junior season but Stan Bounds, who alternated with Ellis much of the season, decided to bypass his senior term and graduate. And for junior David Coates and sophomores Steve Jennings and Bobby Garner, there's not a minute of playing time at quarterback.

Henry and Chuck Kota (6-3, 248) at right guard are the lone holdover starters from last season's offensive line, and if Henry hasn't recovered from the boating accident injury to his ankle, the likelihood is that Roy Grant (6-3, 244) will transfer from left tackle. All of which makes it imperative that Jennings shake the knee kink — a March injury and surgery — to take over at left tackle.

Dick Lawrence and James Hickman vacated the tackle stations and John MacNeill started at center in '75. His slot will be filled by Randy White (6-1½, 232), a junior letterman, or Reggie Pace (6-2, 231), a senior.

Wade Griffin (6-5, 236) is a fine blocker and a competent receiver at tight end, a senior. And for the wide receivers, coach Eddie Crawford moved two tight ends into the split end area, both lettermen — Curtis Weathers (6-5, 218) and Robert Fabris (6-2, 200). They're replacing Bill Small.

And for Rick Kimbrough at flanker, Mark Clark (6-1, 187), sophomore transfer from Rice, and Mark Bowen (6-1, 180), a junior are the replacements.

With Ellis in the backfield are Michael Sweet (5-9, 184) at tailback and James Storey (6-0, 210) at fullback. Sweet was No. 1 throughout 1975 and Storey took over at fullback when Hofer was injured, starting through the last half of the season.

For Williams, who transferred from right tackle, Cooper and defensive line coach Jim Carmody worked a similar transfer by moving blockbuster-sized Pepe Robertson (6-0, 253) from a tackle berth to the middle of the Rebels' 5-2 defensive structure.

And for Farris, a rangy terminal who handled the bulk of last season's punting, there's George Plasketes (6-2, 214), a converted quarterback, and Bob Grefeng (6-2½, 211), promising sophomore.

Elsewhere, Lawrence Johnson (6-3½, 253) and Mike Pittman (6-1, 225) return to man the tackles, Gary Turner (6-4, 219) returns to right end, George Stuart (6-0, 208) and Ken Coleman (6-4, 222) are back on the firing line as linebackers and Rickie Hicks (6-2½, 203), George Nasif (6-0, 182), Charlie Moss (5-10, 175), Brad Pittman (6-0, 190) and Gary Jones (6-3, 202) will patrol the secondary.

For Farris and Steve Lavinghouse, who set a Rebel career scoring record with 156 points through four seasons of placekicking, there's Tim Headrick (5-10½, 190), a sophomore to replace Farris, and Robin Lavinghouse (5-8, 178) to replace brother Steve.

After the opener with Memphis State, the Rebels jump into Southeastern Conference competition with the first of seven games, this one against defending champion Alabama. The date in Jackson is Sept. 11.

Thereafter, the calendar sends Cooper's outfit against Tulane, Southern Mississippi, Auburn, Georgia, South Carolina, Vanderbilt, LSU, Tennessee and Mississippi State.

After Bama, the Auburn and Mississippi State games will be played in Jackson with Tulane and Georgia for Homecoming to be featured on the campus, in Hemingway Stadium.

Memphis State, Alabama, Southern Mississippi, Carolina and LSU will be played at night.

Top golfer receives Ole Miss scholarship

UNIVERSITY — Ole Miss golf coach Ray Poole Tuesday announced the signing of E. J. Stenftenagel of Jasper, Ind., to a golf scholarship for the 1976-77 season.

The long-hitting Stenftenagel was considered one of the top golfers in Indiana prep circles. As a junior, he was a finalist in the state high school playoffs, tied for sectional medalist honors and placed third on the regional level. Last spring Stenftenagel paced Jasper to the runnerup position in the Southern Indiana Athletic Conference and more than 20 wins in dual meet competition. He was a four-year regular, playing No. 1 for two years.

His father, Ed Stenftenagel, was a three-year letterman guard for the Rebels in basketball in 1952-53-54.

Wildcats lose running back

POPLARVILLE—Pearl River Junior College football practice is a week away and already two sophomore starting running backs have decided not to play another season.

Frank Woods of Picayune and Anthony Summers of Bay Saint Louis decided last week not to return. They both gave personnel reasons for not coming back.

"It means we will have to work that much harder with freshmen," J.C. Arban, PRC's head coach said. "Woods and Summers would have been starters," he added. Woods started several games for the Wildcats last season before injuring a shoulder, at the end of the season. He averaged 4.4 yards per carry and was the team's third leading ground gainer. Summers played defense as a freshman, but was expected to start in the backfield this season.

"There may be others that don't show," Arban commented. "We just won't know until Sunday's first squad meeting." The absence of the two mentioned sophomores will give the Cats 12 returning lettermen. Thirty other sophomores and more than 40 freshmen are now expected for practice Monday, Aug. 16. Pearl River's first game is Thursday, Sept. 9 against Northwest at Senatobia. The Wildcats first home game is Saturday, Sept. 18 against the Jones Bobcats.

SECTION B BAY ST. LOUIS, MISS., THURSDAY, AUGUST 12, 1976 PAGE 1

An intern on paper - a cop on the streets

By DONNA SWISSELM

"While I feel that definite changes are needed in the Bay St. Louis Police Department, I've learned more these past weeks with them, than during the three and a half years I spent in college studying criminal justice," remarked Jimmy Jacobs, a summer intern with the Bay police.

Jacobs, an Ole Miss student, is completing a 12 week internship course with the police department, a requirement that must be met before he will be allowed to graduate this coming May.

A native of Georgia, Jacobs became familiar with the area when he attended St. Stanislaus High School.

"I requested to be placed with the Bay police department because I love the area and wanted to return," he said.

Jacobs is the first student to be placed in an internship with the department, and Police Chief William Carbonette seems to be well-pleased with the program.

"I think the internship program is great. It has helped tremendously with our workload, especially during a time when our officers are taking vacations," said Carbonette.

Jacobs' duties range from giving traffic citations to handling robberies and participating in stake outs - all of the duties which are normally handled by the regular patrolmen.

According to Jacobs, the most interesting case he has handled dealt with a burglary and the subsequent arrests.

"I received a call that a burglary had just taken place and two suspects were observed walking along the highway. After bringing the two suspects (juveniles) into the station, they were questioned and consistently maintained that they lived in Bay St. Louis but would never say exactly where."

Jacobs said after two days work, "we found that the two juveniles were runaways from a detention home in Harrison County and were actually from Texas."

The 22-year-old summer intern earns $88 per week while he works with the police department. Of this amount, only $23 is paid by the city.

Jacobs said his decision to become a policeman has no basic past foundation and is simply something he has always wanted to do.

The question of where he will apply for a job as a patrolman after his graduation is not yet decided.

While Jacobs does have praise for the men he has worked with, and credits the Police Chief with the "tremendous amount" he has learned during his visit, he does have some criticism.

"The department definitely in my opinion needs more men. Including the Chief; there are only eight police officers.

"There is also a need for a full-time investigator, something the department does not now have. I also feel there should be more signs such as speed limit signs posted and things of this nature," observed Jacobs.

Carbonette agreed with Jacobs' feelings about the shortage of police.

"According to statistics, for a town the size of Bay St. Louis, we should have 16 patrolmen plus a full time investigator," he said.

Jacobs said he will note these things in a written report he must make to the Mayor Warren Carver and Carbonette at the end of his internship, which concludes in two weeks.

Even though Jacobs is not yet a policeman but still a student of the trade, his fellow workers see him somewhat differently.

Stated Carbonette, "He's an intern on paper, but a policeman on the streets."

PRC fall enrollment reflects increase

POPLARVILLE-- Possibilities of another fall record enrollment at Pearl River Junior College looks brighter each day, according to Joyce Smith, dean of student affairs.

"Things are really picking up in our office," Mrs. Smith said. "Applications are pouring in and we still have two weeks left before school begins." An exact number over last year's tally at this time was not released.

The Vocational-technical department enrollment is looking better everyday. Though reports indicated the vo-tech department may be down in enrollment this fall, "we're close to last year's numbers," Willis Lott, vocational-technical counselor said.

All of the programs are still open at this time, however most are now expected to be filled within the next two weeks. The biggest lag in enrollment seems to be in the secretarial fields such as legal, medical, and clerical. Masonry, carpentry, drafting and electronics also have several openings.

Registration for the fall term begins Thursday, Aug. 26 and continues through Friday, Aug. 27. All registration will be by last name appointments. Regular classes begin Monday, Aug. 30.

Following is the registration schedule by appointment:

SOPHOMORES
Aug. 26, 8 a.m. - noon - A-F 8-9 a.m.; G-N 9-10 a.m.; O-T 10-11 a.m.; U-Z 11 a.m. - noon.

NEW, TRANSFER AND FORMER STUDENTS
Aug. 26, 1 - 3 p.m. A-C 1-2 p.m.; D-F 2-3 p.m.
Aug. 27, 8 a.m. - noon, 1-3 p.m. G-J 8-9 a.m.; K-M 9-10 a.m.; N-P 10-11 a.m. Q-S 11 a.m. - noon; T-V 1-2 p.m.; W-Z 2-3 p.m.

MVSU registration announces

ITTA BENA - Registration for the fall semester at Mississippi Valley State University is set for Aug. 23-27, according to an announcement by Lawrence Sutton, university registrar.

Sutton said on Monday, Aug. 23 from 8:30 - 9:30 a.m., new and transfer students will assemble in the H.G. Carpenter Auditorium for orientation. Registration for these students will be held Monday-Tuesday, Aug. 23-24 in the Health and Physical Education Center.

Upperclassmen will register Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, Aug. 25-27, also in the Health and Physical Education Center.

For further information relative to registration for the fall semester or the evening college, contact Registrar's Office, Mississippi Valley State University, Itta Bena, Miss. 38941 or call (601) 254-9041.

Information concerning the graduate program and the College Credit Courses may be obtained by writing or calling Dr. Nathaniel Bocclair, chairman, Division of Education, Mississippi Valley State University, Itta Bena, Miss. 38941. Telephone (601) 254-9041.

Exercising check care

MISSISSIPPI STATE -- Writing checks has become such a convenient way to conduct money transactions that check writers sometimes get careless. When this happens, convenience becomes confusion.

Mrs. Shirley Washington, home management specialist with the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service at Alcorn State University, suggests things to remember when writing checks.

"Make sure that the amount in numbers is the same as the amount you write out in words," says the specialist. "While the amount in words is the one that's legally binding, some banks will not process a check where the two figures are different."

Neatness counts, reminds Mrs. Washington. If the bank finds a check confusing, it will not process it. If a mistake is made, don't just cross out the error and write above it. Void the check and write a new one, says Mrs. Washington.

By taking a few extra seconds to carefully write a check, Mrs. Washington says, you can avoid confusion and make sure that your checking account remains a convenience instead of becoming a nuisance.

WOMAN WINS UM CRIMINAL JUSTICE DEGREE

UNIVERSITY -- Mrs. Brenda Bowling of Jackson, a former Oxford resident, will become the first woman to receive the Master of Criminal Justice degree at Ole Miss during August commencement ceremonies. The master's program was inaugurated at the University two years ago.

Mrs. Bowling, law enforcement program graduate at Ole Miss and one of the first two women to be employed by the Jackson Police Department, is currently a volunteer counselor for the City of Jackson Youth Court.

Quarterback Quencher is 'meal' in a glass

Pre-game warm-up on the vacant lot is often preceded by a high-energy snack at the refrigerator. It must be quick, between dropping school books and donning play clothes. But it should also have more to offer than calories. And the perfect answer, with flavor, too, is Quarterback Quencher.

Quarterback Quencher is a drink you can make in less than three minutes by mixing orange juice, eggs, milk, honey, vanilla and ice cubes. And unlike "junk food," it contains everything a balanced diet needs: vitamins, minerals, and protein.

A key ingredient is eggs, the highest quality protein available.

QUARTERBACK QUENCHER
1 egg
1 cup orange juice
1-3 cup instant nonfat dry milk

2 to 3 ice cubes
1 tablespoon honey
1/2 teaspoon vanilla

Combine all ingredients in blender container; blend for 45 to 60 seconds. Pour into tall glass and serve immediately.

Slots available in vo-tech general clerical program

A few slots remain open in the general clerical program offered at the Pearl River Junior College, Hancock County Vocational-Technical Center. The general clerical curriculum is recommended for the student who expects to do general office work.

The curriculum includes the following: typewriting, filing, business English, general office practice, clerical record keeping, office machines, and business math. The remaining slots will be filled on a first-come-first serve basis.

Pearlington Notes

By Ona Mae McARTHUR
Happy birthday to Tommy Reynolds, Karen Fricke, Earl Breland, Chrystal Frazier, Carol Murphy, Ronald Breland, Alma McArthur, and Jack Dawsey.

Get well Wishes to Roxanne Furey who is recovering from eye surgery, and to Joseph Muns who is in the Veteran's Hospital.

Mrs. Mary Lee Evans will fly to Honolulu, Hawaii to attend an international meeting of the Grand United Order of Odd-fellows and the Household of Ruth. She plans to spend seven days enjoying Hawaii before returning to Pearlinton.

Our sympathy to the family and friends of Kevin Lichtenstein son of Mr. and Mrs. Eller Lichtenstein.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Joey Muns who were married this week.

Family and friends are glad that Donald Doyle is home from the hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth LeSueur and Family are enjoying a vacation visiting family and friends in Missouri.

Mr. and Mrs. Frances Adams and Family are leaving soon for a vacation to Tennessee.

Mrs. Rose Smith was an overnight visitor to her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Russel Dawsey and Evelyn.

Mrs. Emma "Granny" Lott was a visitor to Mr. and Mrs. Henry Keaton of Bogalusa, La.

Pearlington First Southern Baptist Church reports the Vacation Bible School is a great success with 107 on the rolls and average attendance of 97 each day. Appreciation is expressed for all the help received to make the school a success.

Mrs. Thelma Holden visited in Pearlinton this week with her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Walters and Scott.

Mr. and Mrs. L.C. Cuevas and Marcelle and May Luxich were visitors to Rev. and Mrs. Charley Alexander of Picayune.

Happy Birthday to Jack Dawsey from his niece, Sue Rayburn.

MAFES researchers urge palm oil import control

MISSISSIPPI STATE, MISS.—American vegetable oil industries may well find themselves out in the cold if U.S. palm oil imports continue increasing at the present rate, according to Dr. Earl A. Stennis, associate agricultural economist, Mississippi Agricultural and Forestry Experiment Station (MAFES).

Appearing before the U.S. House of Representatives subcommittee on Cotton and on Oilseeds and Rice to emphasize the need for government action, Dr. Stennis noted that U.S. palm oil imports have climbed from seven million pounds in 1965 to 960 million pounds, nearly a 26-fold increase, in the last decade. He also said that the palm kernel oil imports rose from an insignificant amount in 1965 to 163 million pounds in 1975.

"By 1985, palm oil available for export to the U.S. could conceivably be in sufficient quantities," the MAFES researcher said, "to replace soybean and cottonseed oil in domestic markets."

Dr. Stennis observed that "the dramatic increase in U.S. palm oil imports directly parallels similar increases in world palm oil production. Since 1965, world production has increased from 2,812 million pounds to 6,400 million pounds in 1975. Total world palm oil production is expected to double from 1975 to 1985, and this estimate may be conservative."

"It is apparent from world palm production and import statistics," he said, "that the U.S. is virtually a 'dump' market for palm oil."

Nothing, "some feel that there is no real problem, and that we should let the free market take care of the situation," the MAFES researcher said. "I contend that there is a problem by almost any measure—one chooses, and that free-market conditions do not exist when palm oil producers are being subsidized with low cost credit. By the same token, free market conditions do not exist when every major importing country other than the U.S. has an import duty. The absence of an import duty makes the U.S. a preferred market, yielding higher net returns. The net effect of this situation is essentially the same as could be realized if no country had import quotas, but the U.S. provided a three to five cents subsidy for all palm oil imported into the U.S."

Dr. Stennis gave several reasons why palm oil represents a competitive threat for U.S. cottonseed and soybean industries.

"Once in production," he noted, "palm trees yield around 3,500 to 4,000 pounds of oil per acre annually and continue in production for 30 to 35 years. These yields and productive lives, along with the minimal cultural practices necessary for sustained production, combine to give palm oil the lowest cost of production for any vegetable oil."

"Excluding any export charges, palm oil can be delivered at U.S. ports for only 10 to 10.5 cents per pound.

When one considers present soybean oil prices of 16 to 17 cents per pound, it's clear that palm oil producers and palm oil producing countries have the potential for bringing havoc to the domestic vegetable oil market.

"The second reason why palm oil presents such a competitive threat in the U.S. and world vegetable markets," the MAFES researcher explained, "arises from the type of financial arrangements currently being made available to palm oil producers. Practically all U.S. production of oilseeds is financed through commercial channels at the prevailing commercial rates. In contrast, a substantial portion of the palm oil now coming on stream has been subsidized with low cost loans—partly financed by the U.S. taxpayer—with the farmer forced to contribute to his own plight."

The third reason palm oil has affinity for U.S. markets, Dr. Stennis reemphasized, is that "the U.S. is the only major market which does not have import restrictions on palm oil."

The MAFES researcher suggested that three governmental actions may be taken to alleviate the problem—either singularly or in combination:

—development of bilateral and multilateral agreements—cutting off of subsidized credit for palm production—imposition of an import duty of three to five cents per pound.

Taken in combination, Dr. Stennis said, "these actions could raise the state-side price of palm oil by six to eight cents per pound." Such an increase theoretically would allow U.S. vegetable oil producers to retain domestic markets without substantially raising the price of the protein component of production.

"The advantages of governmental action, in my opinion, will outweigh any disadvantages and be beneficial to the nation's oilseed industry and the U.S. balance of payments, but care must be exercised to insure that the type of action taken does not jeopardize U.S. exports."

Survey shows U.S. can convert 111 million acres to crops

MISSISSIPPI STATE - A recent Soil Conservation Service field survey indicates that the United States has 111 million acres of land not now in crops that could be converted to cropland if needed, according to Bob Chapin.

Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service Land Use Center coordinator.

"This land, which has either a high or medium potential for crop conversion is roughly equivalent to last year's total corn, oats and sorghum acreage," says Chapin. "It compares to a total U.S. crop acreage of 400 million."

Chapin estimates that Mississippi has about two million acres of cropland not yet in crops which could go into production if needed. This land which has a medium potential for crop conversion is about 25 percent greater than the present planted cotton acreage and compares to a total state cropland acreage of seven million.

"In the time of a world emergency, with the use of heavy equipment to construct step terraces on hillsides and with prices high enough to justify conversion, another six million acres in Mississippi might be converted to cropland," notes Chapin. "Most of this land would be in the brown loam and thin loess areas and would bring the total to 13.5 million acres of cropland," he concludes.

Taxpayers Ask IRS

Q. Within the past year, I've paid considerable legal expenses to defend a member of the family against criminal charges. Are these expenses deductible?

A. Personal legal expenses such as yours are non-deductible. Only those legal expenses directly connected with the production of taxable income are deductible. For example, legal expenses paid to collect alimony, which is taxable income, are deductible.

For more information, see IRS Publication 529, Miscellaneous Deductions and Credits, available at IRS offices.

Q. My Dad gave me $500, as a gift. Do we pay a gift tax?

A. Your Dad pays no gift tax if the $500 is the only monetary gift he gives you in the calendar year. He need not file a Federal gift tax return. Usually, the first $3,000 of gifts, given any one person for a calendar year is not subject to a gift tax, and therefore, is deducted in computing the amount of taxable gifts for the calendar year. The exception is gifts of future interests in property.

The gift tax usually is paid by the donor. However, if the donor does not pay the tax, the person receiving the gift may be liable for payment.

For more complete information, see IRS Publication 592, The Federal Gift Tax, available at IRS offices.
